

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Coronavirus

At FJG we have found ways to enable us to continue to work with our clients over this difficult time.

In order to minimise risk to our staff and clients we constantly monitor and act on government advice.

None of our offices are now open to the public but documents can still be posted through the letter boxes and post is being cleared daily.

We are maintaining a full service remotely and all client appointments are made electronically or over the telephone – we have the technology and we can make it work for you. This prevents exposure to all.

We have a robust case management system where all client files are held electronically and can be accessed from any location. Any post that is received is able to be scanned in direct to the relevant file.

We do not currently anticipate any disruption to your matter.

Should you have any worries or concerns, in the first instance please direct these to the person that is working with you.

Best wishes

FJG
